

Rattle on The Stovepipe

COPPER FAMILY HOUSE CONCERT Tuesday 26th January 7.30pm

RATTLE ON THE STOVEPIPE explore the interwoven worlds of traditional British and Appalachian songs, ballads, and music. Morris dances flow into their Old Time Appalachian counterparts, Minstrel songs brought to Britain in the 19th century are resurrected via the singing of Cotswold rural labourers, while English jigs and Scottish pipe tunes evolve into fiddle and banjo reels, while 18th century British ballads, as heard from source singers in the mountains and 'hollers' of Kentucky, Georgia and N.Carolina, reappear in more democratic guise.

The musical backgrounds of the three band members make them uniquely qualified to explore this fascinating cross-cultural area.
